Is your office space buried under stacks of paper files? Imagine the convenience of holding your entire filing cabinet in the palm of your hand. Converting to an electronic, paperless filing system is the latest trend and Aloha Data Services provides the best service around.

By digitizing your files, not only will you free up precious office space, you'll reach new levels of productivity. A simple click of a mouse replaces those time-consuming trips to the file cabinet and eliminates all the work of filing and organizing by hand.

Converting to an electronic system makes good sense. You will feel secure in knowing you have backups in case of fire, theft or misplaced files. It also alleviates the need to transport or fax them by hand. Now you can send them electronically or access them from a remote location. You can password-protect them to allow limited access and searching them is a snap!

Electronic files can be accessed from a database on a server, from a hard drive or you can burn them to a disk. With a digital filing system, you have complete control. Files are searchable by file number, person name, place, date or any other criteria you choose. Maintaining and using files has never been this easy. Think of all the hours saved!

Digital filing is the future, so don't wait to modernize your business. And speaking of our future, reducing paper consumption is one way that you can be conscious of the environment. Aloha Data Services joined The Chamber of Commerce Hawaii to become part of a business community that cares about the environment and a sustainable future. To assist Chamber members in reaching these goals, we are offering a Member-to-Member discount of 20 percent off the price of digitizing their paper documents.

Aloha Data Services is here to make your transition to a modern, paperless business smooth and hassle-free. We're leaders in quality and customer service, providing competitive prices and strict confidentiality. In addition, Aloha Data Services offers other services including data entry, printing and data recovery. We will tailor services to meet your unique needs, so contact Aloha Data Services today for a free, no obligation evaluation.

Your biggest problem now is deciding what you will do with all that extra space!

Aloha Data Services joined The Chamber of Commerce Hawaii to become part of a community of local business committed to improving commerce, creating jobs and helping Hawaii's economy thrive.
